IN A FEW WORDS

Dear Triathletes,

Here we go again! Spring is in high gear and everyone's itchin' to get those really long bike rides in. Although some of you may have already done a few in preparation for Ironman USA at Lake Placid. Regardless, the energy's right for everybody to have their best tri-season ever! And let's remember our little secret...that we're the most fortunate athletes on the planet. See ya out there!

Sincerely,

Mark Wilson

Featured Athlete: Charles Pegg By Mark Wilson

Has this ever happened to you? Of course not, but you know friends who've been through it, right? They decide to grow up and pursue other activities besides sports, such as; a career, paying bills or spending time with their husband/wife. They maintain that for awhile, you're even impressed with their fortitude and everyone seems perfectly happy...until they snap, and they're back at it again! Yep, this has happened to the best of 'em. Headed for the straight and narrow and that nasty triathlon bug just jumps up and bites 'em in the ass. You've heard them pleading, "It's not my fault! It's my nature! It's who I am." (You shake your head.) Uh-huh, classic case. Well, that's what's happened to Charles Pegg, our HVTC Featured Athlete of the Month. Charles is a transplant from jolly old England with some impressive athletic experiences. Let's get to his story!

Hudson Valley Triathlon Club

Volume IV, Issue No. 4 April 2004

Charles Pegg is 34 years old and was born in Hampshire, England. He attended prep school and later Radley College which were both near Oxford. Charles played all team sports at prep school and was the Captain of the Rugby and Cricket teams. He was a track star, too! He ran sprints of 100m through 400m, hurdles, long jump and triple jump with school records that lasted a few years. He was also fortunate enough to run at the Iffley road track in Oxford where Roger Bannister broke the 4 minute mile! He ended his U-14 athletic career by running in the All-England 400m Final at White City, London. He was shocked by his competitors speed but dug deep and finished in 4th overall. While at Radley, Charles focused on team sports and was Captain of the cricket team. He left school early to follow his dream of "playing cricket for England." For three years he played for what would be considered the Minor League Baseball circuit of cricket for England, coaching and playing in an Australian league during the winter. However, he became disillusioned and missed out on a first team contract.

At this stage in his life, Charles ran away from cricket to New York City! He had too much fun, met his future wife (Charise) and discovered some balance with yoga and a vegetarian lifestyle. Consequently, he attended The Swedish Institute of Massage; he graduated with a rekindled passion for Eastern bodywork, became an instructor of Eastern studies at the Institute and started a company called Pegasus Healing Systems, Inc. His company provided onsite stress reduction to corporations and massage at sporting events. The company had a few good years, but he wasn't completely happy. "I realized that I missed the competitive arena when providing massage at Madison Square Garden for a computer convention!" It wasn't until he actually got out of the basement one time and into the "arena" that he realized he needed a change. The change came too quickly as he lost all of his clients due to the market crash and his dream of saving corporate America ended abruptly. So Charles, Charise and their one year old son-Taane (Maori, meaning "God of the Forest") moved to Woodstock to begin their new life.

Once settled in Woodstock, Charles began a tree care service specializing in climbing and pruning because of his desire to be outdoors. The organic living reminded him of his need for the "competitive edge." So, faced with the possibility of becoming really overweight he entered the Pine Hill Arms Triathlon in 2003 and placed 4th overall. (Guess he wasn't that fat, yet!) His first "proper" triathlon was the Hudson Valley Triathlon last year. He placed 143rd overall and let's just say he spent lots of time in the Hudson.um.fishing! Then he jumped on his mountain bike!! Ah, rookies. Ya gotta love 'em. As always, that experience turned him on to the sport and he's been hooked ever since. He finished his debut season with a 3rd place finish in his age group at the Greenwood Lake Triathlon. BTW, Charles found a road bike "gathering dust on a friend's wall." It had an interesting carbon fiber frame! So, he began the process of upgrading the components and then needed to learn how to ride it. "One day, just when I felt like I had gotten the hang of it, I cut across the street, hopped up onto the curb stopping dead on the lip and unable to unclip quickly enough, rolled over! I, of course, jumped up and brushed myself off in hopes no-one had seen me." Yep, it happens!

After an exciting start in triathlon and less carbs over the winter (beer), Charles began a serious base-build for 2004. His first race was the YMCA Indoor Triathlon and he came in 3rd overall! Then returned to the Pine Hill Arms ski/bike/run and took 5th place overall, 5 minutes faster than last year. He met some HVTC members at the race and decided he must join the club! He also ran the Kingston Classic last week and placed 36th overall in a personal best time of 38:58 on a very hot spring day. Charles noticed the numerous club members and the mutual support that was exchanged by everyone.

The Trooper Biathlon is the next race on Charles' schedule and he's "craving" some open-water swimming. He's looking forward to the HVTC Summer Points Series and plans to do a few sprint and Olympic races which will lead up to the Timberman Half in August. Come November, he plans to end the season with the Laguna Phuket Triathlon in Thailand. His brother lives there and he hasn't seen him in years. Charles' long-term goals include an Ironman in the next year or so and he'd love to qualify for Kona.

Charles wanted to express this, too. "Please may I take this opportunity to thank the club for their kind welcome and thanks to Billy at Overlook Mountain Bikes and Karen with her run group from Athletica in Woodstock." Thanks, Charles!
