

Hudson Valley Triathlon Club

Mission Statement: To help individuals (beginner to advanced) reach their health, fitness and competitive goals through the sport of triathlon.

Volume VI, Issue No. 59

April 2006

IN A FEW WORDS

Dear HVTC,

Let the games begin!! Yes, less than a month from now we'll be swimming in Williams Lake. I haven't heard a water temperature report from the Polar bears, but will keep you informed as the information comes in. No matter, bring that thermal cap and neoprene booties just in case. I hope you're having a wonderful spring and that you're hitting your fitness goals right on schedule! See ya out there.

Sincerely,

Mark H. Wilson-Triathlon Coach
Founder/President, Hudson Valley Triathlon Club
USA Triathlon Level II Certified Coach

HUDSON VALLEY TRIATHLON CLUB

CAUTION: Participating in the sport of triathlon and HVTC could cause radiant health and spiritual well-being!

Featured Athlete: Pam Neimeth

By Mark H. Wilson

Do you know someone who was a runner before becoming a triathlete? Did they put-off entering a triathlon due to a fear of drowning or careening downhill at 50 mph on a couple of welded, thin pieces of metal? Or maybe they balked at the cost of such an endeavor; swim club, cycling club, running club, tri-club, gym dues, road bike, tri-bike, bike shoes, bike repairs, helmet, training shoes, racing flats, massage therapist, chiropractor, IM race entry, etc., etc. Ouch! Yes, chances are 90% of the people you've raced with are former runners. Such is the case with Pam Neimeth, our Featured Athlete of the Month. However, she's not just a runner; she's a marathoner!! Let's hear about the transformation.

Pam was born in New York City and graduated from Northfield Mt. Hermon High School in Northfield, MA. She went to Vassar College for 2 years, took some time off in Vermont, then moved to Washington State where she finished college at Evergreen State as a Women's Studies major. She received her Masters Degree in social work from Adelphi University on Long Island. Surprisingly, Pam never participated in sports as a child, adolescent or even as a young adult; she hiked a bit, but not 'til after her first child was born did she become an avid athlete. She "discovered" running as a way to get some alone time! Pam has lived in Milan, New York for the past 25 years and shares her life with her husband Norbert Lazar (Psst...he's the Phantom Gardener!) and their 2 daughters (18/15 years old), 3 dogs, 2 cats and a horse! Dinner-time must be a riot!!

Switching from running to triathlon influenced Pam dramatically. In fact, she's been known to confuse her "real" job with that of tri-training. Seriously, she's a psychotherapist in Rhinebeck, NY...who schedules clients around her training. Thank God for that new shower in the office; phew! She's incorporating exercise/movement into therapy as a way of working with each individuals' edges; exploring self mastery, trauma, recovery, etc. Pam feels very passionate and committed to encouraging people to become involved in running and triathlon as an avenue to improved health and well-being. She is particularly interested in guiding girls/women who have never been athletes explore their untapped potential, access emotional empowerment, and establish an outlet from abusive relationships and/or potentially self-destructive behaviors.

Despite regularly eating Fluff and chocolate chips on graham crackers, Pam is a shining example for her clients. She has run 16 marathons including Boston three times. She just completed a tough 50k trail run in 5:56:01, too. A few years ago, however, her running became slower and slower compounded by nagging injuries. She began working with a coach specifically for her running; she intended to recover from the injuries and possibly run a "fast paced" marathon again. The instructor had her running less but adding cross training, specifically biking and swimming. (Sneaky, sneaky!) Before she knew it she was hooked and joining HVTC. She had actually fantasized about doing triathlons, and had even invested in a good road bike years ago but never had the nerve to make the jump.

In 2005, after she completed the Trooper Biathlon and won 2nd place in her age-group, her first tri-season began with the HVTC Summer Tri-Series #1 and then the Tri a Tri in Danbury, CT; both experiences went well. In fact, she placed 2nd in her age-group at Danbury, too. Then, she participated in the Tupper Lake "sprint" triathlon near Lake Placid and was 4th overall Masters and in late August in Killington, VT finished her first half-Ironman. Wow; nice debut!

Although Pam's parents literally think triathlon is an illness like a drug addiction (and they may be on to something), it's not enough to stop her from enjoying the multiple benefits the sport has to offer. Pam's immediate family members think her new project is great! Her three sisters are supportive, too, and one is to run her first marathon next fall with Marathon Woman by her side. For Pam, triathlon provides a concrete, body based opportunity to explore the spiritual, emotional and physical parts of herself; and the opportunity to connect with others in these ways, as well. When she's out there pushing hard ("or not"), all life's little dramas, the mind's inner voices, excitement, anxiety, impatience, fear, pain, joy, etc. all show up and the training/racing allows her to explore her resistance and manage it accordingly. Another great perk, of course, are the neat t-shirts!

Volume VI, Issue No. 59 April 2006

Pam would like to do an Ironman sometime in the next couple of years, maybe when she turns 50 and her girls are both finished with high school. Her real goal though is to keep appreciating her blessings by expanding and exploring her potential as an athlete, as a human being, but mostly to “STOP WHINING!” Welcome to triathlon! Thanks, Pam.
