IN A FEW WORDS

Dear HVTC,

Yikes, was that snow falling from the sky?! According to the Farmer's Almanac, this winter is to be somewhat challenging; guess we just have to wait and see. Meanwhile, where's that bike trainer?!?! See ya out there!

Sincerely,
Mark H. Wilson
Professional Life & Triathlon Coach

HVTC Featured Athlete: Christine Honig

By Mark H. Wilson

Do you know anyone who gives constant encouragement to others? Perhaps your generous neighbor, your hard-working mother/father, or even a teacher from your past? Is it possible that a person could actually care more about your well-being than yourself? Some folks are hard-wired to “be there” for others and they do it with gusto. Our Featured Athlete of the Month, Christine Honig, is possibly the most jubilant friend a person could have; she’s there when you need her, smiling from ear-to-ear and loving every minute of it! How does she rise to the challenge again and again? Let’s find out.

Hudson Valley Triathlon Club

Volume VII, Issue No. 89 October 2008

Christine was born in the Bronx, New York and went to Roy C. Ketcham High School in Wappingers Falls. After that, she attended Edinboro University in Pennsylvania majoring in Speech Communications. Christine competed in high school swimming and volleyball; but really busted-out in college as a swimmer; she raced for 4 years and was All-American in the 200 backstroke her senior year. Currently, she lives in LaGrange, NY with her husband, Michael, and their son Jacob and works in Pharmaceutical Sales. Her hobbies include helping-out her son's sports teams; soccer, swimming and basketball. Oh, yeah, and feasting on Mrs. Fields chocolate chip cookies!! (Yum!)

Her first tri experience was the Pawling Triathlon in 2005 and everyone outside the triathlon community thinks she's nuts for participating in the sport; particularly her friends, neighbors, co-workers, and family! She went for the top in a hurry and completed Ironman Florida in 2006; no rush, though. She raced with some of her dearest family members/friends; sister-in-law Maureen Shilkunas as well as Maureen's brother and sister, Dennis and Heather Stewart. The Iron-day was brutal as it was unseasonably cold and windy; not the type of weather you expect at a Florida event. On the eve of Ironman, the crew of Iron Virgins went shopping to buy some gloves/hats and stumbled upon some of the greatest personalities in the sport; Heather Fuhr and Paula Newby-Fraser. The former Pros gave them some good advice and wished them luck for tomorrow's adventure. Major highlight for your first Ironman!

Christine is now an official Ironman and she couldn't be prouder, "It was a great day and one that I will never forget!" For her, finishing was awesome; but it's the fact that she had so many friends and family around to share the moment that really moved her. "I am so proud of myself, and my family who did it with me." The icing on the cake, however, was when Christine received a phone call from her son's teacher asking if she could come-in and share her story about becoming an Ironman. Apparently, Jacob asked if he could bring his "Ironmom" to show-n-tell which thrilled Christine to no end; her visit was a hit and she felt like a rockstar!

This Ironmom is a very accomplished triathlete; she's completed some of the big ones; Eagleman, Ironman Florida, 70.3 California, 70.3 World Championships, to name a few. Her swimming is her Ace and she's the very proud owner of the HVTC Summer Tri-Series swim course record; but the sport gives her so much more. "I have done well in some races in my age group, but the biggest achievement in sport is just to be able to compete. I cannot imagine my life without competing in triathlon, I love it."

Her inspiration to get involved with triathlons stems from several people; one is Christine's sister-in-law Maureen Shilkunas who started doing tri's a year earlier. Greg Bayer is a friend and fellow triathlete who strongly supported her tri-beginnings and is the first friend she knew to do an Ironman. Lastly, Arthur Boyko, who is Christine's training partner and great friend. The fondness shows, "He truly helps me to climb mountains!"

In other respects, it's the versatility that best explains Christine's feelings about the sport of triathlon. It's an opportunity for her to do three different disciplines; it keeps your attention and focus and provides an outlet for stress. She also feels that most people admire triathletes and their discipline. Ultimately, Christine feels great while racing; it's an escape from being nearly forty years old and an opportunity to set/achieve personal goals. "It's privilege to be able to push your body to limits many others don't dare, it is an inspiration to so many others, and it provides the chance for your child to tell you that he/she is proud of you." And she's such a social butterfly; it's impossible not to be overwhelmed by her infectious enthusiasm and joviality. "Triathlons provide me the opportunity to be a better me. This is our one shot of being who we are; this life is that shot so take advantage and make the best of it!" She's incredible.

Christine encourages many people to enter triathlon, but not to everyone; her tag line is "find your own Ironman." Triathlon is on Christine's mind all the time while at work; what races to do, training, etc. In fact, a co-worker accused her of thinking more about triathlon than she does her work. Oops!! Christine encouraged her to give the sport a shot and then mentioned that all she had to do was get-up at 4:45 am every day to train and THEN go to work. (Silence) 'Nough said! "People should challenge themselves, but for some just getting to the mailbox without being out of breath is an accomplishment, so I recommend for everyone to think outside the box, reach outside their comfort zone and prepare accordingly, and you never know what may happen."

The cheerful one's future plans include working on her core/strength training and be more focused in 2009. One day, she'd like to do the SOS; and with her swimming as tough as it is, it should go very well! Staying true to her natural spirit, Christine is so thankful for all the people she has had the privilege of meeting over the past three-and-a-half years in the sport and thankful for those who have helped to inspire, encourage, and support her. "My family, friends and the triathletes I have met recently have made me a better triathlete and person." Goal attained. Thanks, Christine!
